

Christian Harris

*Director of Communications
Savannah River National Laboratory*

EDUCATION

*University of Massachusetts, Amherst
Bachelor of Arts, English and Philosophy*

POSITION

As Director of Communications and Public Affairs for Savannah River National Laboratory, Christian Harris is responsible for all communications efforts, both internally and externally, for the Laboratory. He works closely with the scientific, programmatic and operations teams to ensure that the right information reaches our stakeholders through the channels most accessible and preferable to them.

EXPERIENCE

Harris has more than 20 years of experience in various communications fields: as an editor, journalist, public relations and public affairs professional. He comes most recently from having worked with the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) leading a contract team of more than 40 staff members on a $38 million communications project for their Office of Information & Technology. In his nine years as a communications and general management consultant with Booz Allen Hamilton, he also led teams advancing the communication goals of the VA and the Department of Defense Military Health System.